Secretary of Defense Names Committee For Its Furtherance

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(P)—Secretary of Defense Marshall moved today to develop long-range plans for maintaining a strong reserve force with "a minimum interruption to the nation and the individual's normal existence."

To that end, he appointed an eight-man study committee made up of regular and reserve officers and civilians.

Announcing the move, the defense department said steps ordered by Marshall earlier this week regarding "orderly and effective calls" of civilians to active duty were intended to meet an immediate situation.

The new committee will continue the study of this subject and recommend policies designed to eliminate "any uncertainties and inequities which have arisen under the present system."

Announcement of the study plans coincided with a number of indications that the armed forces may be easing off the fast mobilization pace they set following the Communist invasion of South Korea.

Committee Personnel

Members of the committee: Edwin H. Burgess, vice president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad; Brig. Gen. Melvin J. Maas, marine reservist; Maj. Gen. Leo M. Kreber, commander of the 37th division and member of the firm of Vanbolt-Kreber Electrotype company of Columbus, Ohio; Brig. Gen. Hugh M. Milton of the organized army reserve, president of the Read Adm. R. S. Riggs, assistant chief of naval operations for reserves; Maj. Gen. John T. Walker of the marines; Maj. Gen. George G. Finch of the air national guard and Brig. Gen. Robert L. Copley of the air force reserve.

There were no signs of any change in this nation's announced intent to build a powerful military machine of defense against Communist pressure but there were indications that for the time being the permanent mobilization base is nearing completion.

Developments pointing in that direction included:

1. Secretary Page said yesterday that the army hopes to start releasing the mobilized national guardsmen and reservists next summer in a program which may be completed before early 1952.
2. The air force announced it will halt immediately the call-up of enlisted reserves.
3. The navy said it needs no more naval reserve airmen, and that its need for reserve aviation ground officers has been "substantially" met for the immediate future.
4. A marine corps spokesman said the corps will be calling only a few reservists from now on because the volunteer recruiting program has been proceeding satisfactorily.

Tips to Survive Atomic Bomb

By Frank Carey
Associated Press Science Reporter
WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—(P)—White Leghorn hens would have a better chance of surviving the heat of an A-bomb burst than would Rhode Island Reds, a government civil defense consultant says.

Not because they're Leghorns, but because their light color would throw off the heat of the bomb flash better than the dark color would.

But if the hens were caught out in the open much closer than 1½ miles from the blast, they all would be burned to death.

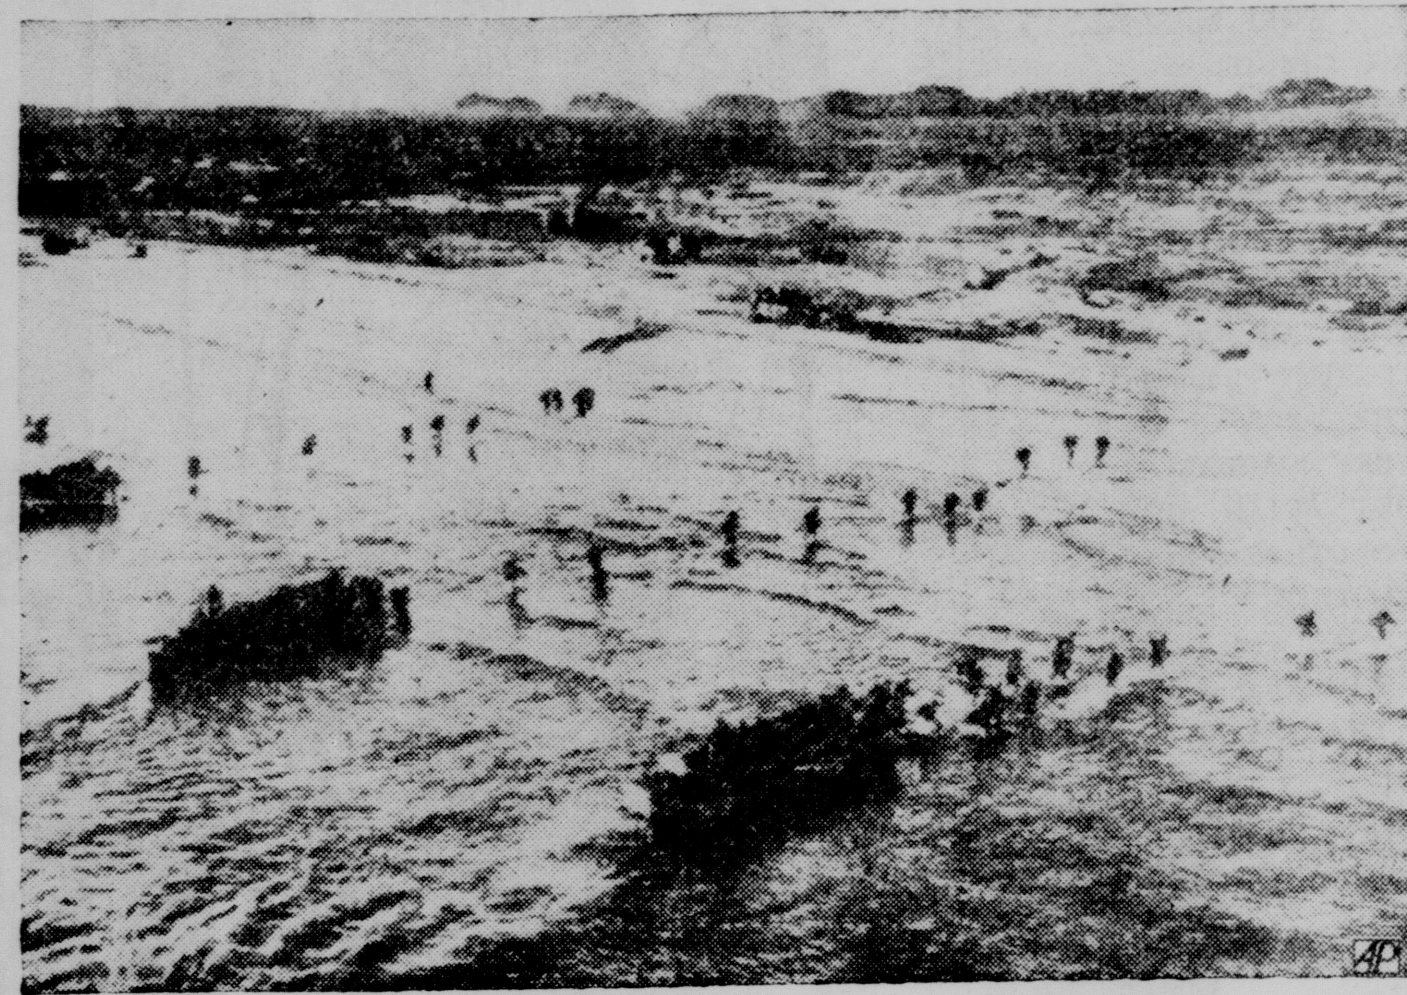

These views were set forth by Richard Gerstlitz in a new book, "How to Survive an Atomic Bomb," described by three publishing firms—Combat Forces Press, Rinehart & Co., and Bantam Books, Inc.—at the first of its kind written especially for laymen. Gerstlitz is a consultant to the civil defense office of the National Security Resources Board.

Harry E. Halliday, grain broker, dies
ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—(P)—Harry E. Halliday, 78, grain broker and former president of the St. Louis Merchants' Exchange, died in a hospital here yesterday. He suffered a cerebral hemorrhage earlier this month.

He also was a former president of the Halliday Grain Co. of Cairo, Ill. During World War II he represented the U. S. army quartermaster corps as an oats buyer on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Private funeral services were scheduled for today at Cairo.

Find Recluse Dead And Rock Tied to Neck

Estimate Horace Kirby Had About 10,000 Acres of Land

DADEVILLE, Mo., Oct. 27.—(P)—Horace Kirby, 83-year-old recluse known as the wealthiest man in Dade county, is dead.

His body, with a 10-pound rock tied around the neck, was found yesterday in a small creek near here. The discovery was made by a searching party after the aged man was found missing from his quarters in a one-room store building here.

Sheriff Everett Evans said there was no evidence of foul play and all indications pointed to suicide. Dr. J. A. Wren, county coroner, said no inquest would be held.

Sheriff Everett Evans said he thought Kirby was worth about $3,000,000. Residents here said he had forgotten how much land he owned, but they estimated his holdings at 10,000 acres, mostly in southeast Missouri and some in Texas.

"I know where it all is and can go to it," he said about a year ago, "but I've lost track of how many acres."

Never Sold Acre

During his lifetime he never sold an acre of the land he had bought.

Always with him was a bur-lap sack, sometimes filled with money, bonds and abstracts.

At a land sale in front of the Barton county courthouse in 1939 he bought 640 acres of land, and surprised everyone by counting out $9,944 in cash from the bur-lap sack.

Kirby never married. "A wife would be too expensive," he told a reporter who interviewed him a year ago.

Kirby once related that he amassed his fortune by buying a calf instead of a new suit of clothes for which his father had given him the money. From that start he accumulated a herd of cattle and later began buying land.

Once a year Kirby bought a pair of overalls and got a haircut. Then he would make his annual trip to Texas to visit his six sections of land there.

Sheriff Evans said Kirby mentioned having several brothers and a sister in Texas, but he did not know their names or where they lived.

The Dade county coroner said no inquest would be held.

Fifth Column Aggression 'Gravest of all Crimes'

By Dewitt Mackenzie
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

America is employing one of her earliest defenses against communism in joining five other U.N. members to label fifth column aggression as among "the gravest of all crimes against peace and security throughout the world."

A resolution to this effect has been placed before the assembly's political committee by the U.S.A., supported by Britain, France, Lebanon, Mexico and the Netherlands. This is in answer to the Russian peace project calling for armaments reduction and branding as a war criminal the first government to use the atomic bomb.

Four Die in a Fire; 15 Saved

Blaze Sweeps County Home in Cass County

HARRISONVILLE, Mo., Oct. 27.—(P)—Four elderly men lost their lives today when fire swept through the Cass county home.

Fifteen other residents were rescued from the burning two-story brick structure about a mile north of the city.

Sheriff Temple Forrest identified the victims as: J. R. (Dick) Freeman, 86, formerly of Pleasant Hill, Mo.; John W. Keltner, 80, formerly of Peculiar, Mo.; James M. Berry, 78, formerly of Peculiar, and James H. Presley, 69, of Harrisonville.

All four were found in their basement living quarters.

Most of the survivors were helped from the smoke filled building by Aubrey MacDonald, Richmond, Kas., who was visiting his mother, Mrs. Josephine MacDonald, matron at the home.

"There was no panic," MacDonald said. "All the people cooperated quite well."

Lawrence W. Heil, a bread salesman, first detected smoke at the home when he made a delivery there at 4:15 a.m. He said he was unable to arouse anyone and drove to Harrisonville and returned with night watchman Stanley Potts.

Upon being awakened MacDonald immediately began rousing the residents. Smoke and flames prevented rescue workers from reaching the basement.

Sheriff Forrest and Fire Chief George M. Allen said they believed the fire started in the basement. The cause is unknown.

Fire departments from Harrisonville and Belton got the flames under control after about two hours. Chief Allen estimated the damage at between $12,000 and $15,000.

Those rescued, including two in wheel chairs, were brought to the American Legion building here, and placed under care of Red Cross workers. Some of them still wore night clothing.

Mr. Miller presented the Eagle Badge to Mrs. Taylor, explaining that only through the help and encouragement of parents could a boy receive the proper guidance to become a Scout of that rank, and Mrs. Taylor in turn, presented the badge to her son.

The court of honor was followed by stunts presented by several of the Sedalia troops.

An opening ceremony was presented by the Scouts of Troop 64 under the direction of James Green and John K. Anderson.

Entertaining Features
Troop 57 presented a tin can race under the direction of Scoutmaster Lloyd Satterwhite.

Big Parade on Hallowe'en

Event Sponsored By Lions club to be Tuesday Night

The annual Hallowe'en parade and entertainment to be held next Tuesday night under the sponsorship of the Sedalia Lions club, promises to be bigger and better this year.

The parade and festivities will start at 6:30 o'clock in the evening.

The parade will assemble in front of the public library in the 300 block on West Third street. The line of march has not been definitely decided upon other than it will be held on Main street and Ohio avenue thence to the Smith-Cotton high school.

In the parade will be the large 65-foot aerial ladder truck of the fire department. The police patrol car will start the parade off and from then on everybody from tiny tots to aging adults will be marching along dressed up from goblins to the Old Lady on the Broom, skeletons, over-size comedians and so on.

In the school auditorium entertainment, contests and various events will be held. Announcements of the winners of prizes for the various costumes and other dress-ups in the parade will be announced and the awards presented on the stage.

Emery L. Ellsworth, general chairman, stated the parade committee and other activity committees will announce their complete plans for Sunday's paper.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 27.—(P)—Union Electric Company of Missouri wants to issue another $25,000,000 worth of first mortgage bonds to help pay for its big construction program.

The company asked the State Public Service Commission today for authority to issue the bonds and sell them on competitive bids. They would be due Dec. 1, 1980.

Union Electric said part of the money will be used for an expansion program estimated to cost $153,000,000 by 1954. Money from the current issue would carry construction through the fall of 1951.

In spite of the terrific force of the "whipping" during the dance, no injuries were suffered by any of the students other than a possible bruise "here and there."

About 4:00 o'clock this morning "paint crews" started their work on the streets. Groups of boys and girls met at Broadway and Osage avenue and started out from there to decorate the streets with "Yea Tigers," "Beat Jeff City," and such inspiring inscriptions. One group arrived at a certain intersection and began working on their new found "art" and remained until well after 6:30 o'clock detouring cars around their paint job.

This afternoon a monster parade was given through Ohio and other downtown streets, attracting much attention and creating added interest in the homecoming celebration.

Comes Down Off the Roof to Contribute to Chest Fund

Community Chest solicitors have some funny experiences and one woman wasn't going to give up on a "No" answer.

After the man at whose door she knocked told her he wasn't going to give, because he was called on too much to give to things, she decided to visit his home a second time. This time she talked to his wife who was very much interested in the Community Chest drive and was anxious to give.

When the man walked in the wife suggested that they make him give whether he wanted to or not—so the wife and the solicitor got him in a corner and evidently won the scuffle because he finally dug into his pocket and gave a donation. He couldn't help laughing about it and was in a good humor when the solicitor left and the solicitor was in a good humor, too, for she felt that she had accomplished her mission.

Anxious to Give
Another solicitor was wandering around in a neighborhood knocking on doors when she noticed a man up on top of a house. She looked up at him and as much as she would have liked to have had a contribution from him she didn't want to climb up on the roof. As she knocked at a (Please turn to Page 6, Column 2)

Four Down in Plane Crash Into a Lake

Training Aircraft Sank in Lake Pontchartrain

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 27.—(P)—An Air Force twin-engine navigation training plane crashed into Lake Pontchartrain on the northern edge of New Orleans in heavy pre-dawn fog today with four men aboard.

The men were listed as missing, though there appeared little hope they survived the crash.

A diver from the New Orleans police department found the plane lying in 15 feet of water about a mile off shore from the New Orleans airport on the lakefront.

The diver reported the plane appeared to be intact though badly smashed by the crash into the water.

Another dive was planned to search for the bodies of the four men.

Lt. John Walker, public information officer at Keesler Air Force base at Biloxi, Miss., listed these four men as missing:

Lt. Col. H. L. Oldenburg, Shelby, Miss.; Major Leon Andrews, the pilot, Farmerville, La.

First Lieutenant G. B. Smith, Cincinnati, Ohio.

Staff Sgt. Gressett (first name unavailable) of Sinton, Texas.

Lt. Walker flew to New Orleans to take part in the search.

At 10:30 a.m. a search plane reported it had sighted an oil slick and what appeared to be wreckage of the plane on the lake bottom. But an investigating navy boat reported the investigation made by a motorboat and there was no wreckage to be found.

Search for the wreckage had been hampered by the dense shroud of fog, the heaviest in New Orleans this year.

Says Four Aboard
First reports from civilian sources placed eight men aboard the plane, but Lt. Nick Stam, also of the Keesler AFB information office, said Maj. James Percy at Scott airbase base, Belleville, Ill., home base of the plane, said there were only four.

Maj. Percy said they were a lieutenant colonel, a major serving as pilot and two others whose rank was not known.

Their identities were withheld pending notification of the next of kin.

Lt. Walker said the plane arrived here last night from Craig field at Selma and took off this (Please turn to Page 6, Column 6)

What Scientific Rain-making Could do to Nation's Economy

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1950, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

SEATTLE.—What artificial rain-making can do to the Far West staggers the imagination. It can make this area bloom like a garden of Eden. It can throw Secretary of Agriculture Brannan's crop program out of balance. Or it could take rain away from other areas and make them deserts.

A brief sample of what rain-making can do occurred at Prosser, Wash., where Leo Horrigan, a big wheat rancher, hired Dr. Irving Frick, of the Water Resources Development Board of Pasadena, Calif., to seed the clouds at the time his wheat needed it most.

As a result, Horrigan's crop, previously estimated at 8 to 10 bushels per acre, shot up to 20 bushels per acre. His total yield was increased by half a million bushels.

Scientific seeding of the clouds might make unnecessary expensive irrigation projects, might raise the water level in the dry Central valley of California, might settle the bitter water feud between California and Arizona over the Colorado river. On the other hand nobody knows yet whether tapping the clouds over one area will take rain away from another. That's why far-sighted Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico proposes legislation to control rain-making.

Battle-Experienced Doctors Needed

The Korean war has exposed a glaring weakness in the Army medical service—namely, that tragically few of its doctors were trained for front-line hospital work. As a result, wounded G.I.'s suffered needless agony, even death, on the Korean front because Army doctors didn't always know how to set up tents, improvise beds or stretchers, and organize field operating rooms.

Most of the young doctors, placed in command of field hospital units had never served outside big, modern hospitals. They had little experience under battle conditions, often weren't even taught the fundamentals of field hospital work.

Most people don't know it, but the Army operates only one small field medical training center at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, under the command of a veteran field surgeon, Maj. Gen. Joseph I. Martin. However, only a fraction of Army doctors have been able to take this training.

Even the surgeon-general, Maj. Gen. Raymond W. Bliss, has no background as a field surgeon but was selected on the basis of his record for operating large Army hospitals. Like most of his predecessors, Bliss has had excellent hospital training but little experience near the front. Most military branches won't appoint a chief who hasn't been a field commander, but not in the medical corps.

Though battle-experienced doctors have pleaded for better field training, the armchair hospital brass have ignored their warnings. Meanwhile, the doctors in Korea are saying privately:

"For God's sake, give us a surgeon-general who knows what the battlefield is, and we'll teach young doctors how and what to do in the field."

Brotherhood at Work

Loyola University in Los Angeles canceled its scheduled football game with Texas Western at El Paso the other day because Loyola had a Negro halfback whom Texas Western would not allow to play.

When Stanley Meyers of Universal pictures congratulated Loyola fathers for their stand against race discrimination, one of them remarked: "Unfortunately, it cost us $8,000. That was the guarantee we were to give Texas Western, and we felt morally bound to pay them when we cancelled. We don't know where we're going to get the $8,000, but it was worth the money."

"Never mind, Father," replied Meyers, "the Lord has ways to take care of those things."

So Meyers, giving the Lord an assist, went to Noah Dietrich, head of the Hughes Tool Company of Houston and the man whose telephone as well as that of Howard Hughes was tapped in Washington by Senator Brewster of Maine on behalf of Pan American Airways.

"Noah," said Meyers, "you recently joined the church. Also you're from Texas, a state whose attitude on the color question has just cost Loyola $8,000."

Meyers went on to suggest that Dietrich make up the money which Loyola college had lost. Next day the Loyola fathers were surprised to receive a check for $8,000.

More on Dewey-Hanley

Here is more inside on the bitter New York battle raging over the heads of Gov. Tom Dewey and his lieutenant governor, Joe Hanley.

Dewey, it now develops, heard of the existence of the Hanley "sell-out" letter, and on Oct. 11 asked his lieutenant governor for a copy. Hanley refused. Hanley had written the letter to Kingsland Macy in September and sent a copy to James Leary, a Saratoga Springs lawyer, who showed it to various friends. However, Dewey was not able to get a copy.

So he instructed Congressman William Pfeiffer of Brooklyn to scour the state for the letter. On Oct. 13 the Congressman came up with a copy and it was two days later—Sunday, Oct.

15—that Dewey abruptly announced his support of General Eisenhower.

Significantly, the Macy-Gannett group, which put up the money for Joe Hanley, have also been the backstage backers of Eisenhower. But in politics, it doesn't pay to have your neck out too early and the best thing Dewey could have done to help Ike was to say nothing.

It is Men Like Henry Stimson Who Help to Make U. S. Great

By Bruce Biossat

Henry L. Stimson, who served under four presidents, will stand on the highest plane of America's public servants.

The 83-year-old Republican, who died the other day at his Long Island home, was the very symbol of integrity and principle as exercised in public office. His practical attainments were sufficiently great as to insure that he would be given the opportunity to make his deep sense of responsibility felt in his country's behalf.

He acted first as President William Howard Taft's Secretary of War. Many years later President Hoover named him Secretary of State. In this post he exhibited a brilliant insight into world political realities that unfortunately was not appreciated at the time.

When Japan invaded Manchuria in 1931, breaking the peace of Asia for the first time since World War I, Stimson called upon the world to take immediate firm steps to repel the aggression. He spoke out vigorously against the immorality of Japan's action.

But Britain, whose help was vital in any counter-move, refused to follow Stimson's lead. Historians today are agreed that this supine acceptance of aggression in 1931 was the leak in the dike that prepared the way for the great flood of Nazi-Fascist aggression in World War II.

When the second great war arrived, Stimson once more showed the courage and character that marked his public duty at every stage. At the age of 73, he accepted the invitation of a Democratic president, Franklin D. Roosevelt, to become Secretary of War. He did this in the face of possible anger among many of his political friends, because he thought the times called for united action and he could lend strength and harmony to this country's defense effort.

General Marshall's tribute to Stimson is ample proof how well he performed his arduous tasks despite his advanced age. Had he done nothing else in public life, he would have earned the nation's gratitude for his self-effacing service in World War II.

If President Theodore Roosevelt be ruled out, nowhere in its 20th century can the Republican Party find a man of taller stature. In Stimson, as much as any man, lay the proof that integrity, ability and devotion to the nation's highest ideals are not the monopoly of one political party—as some would have us believe."

In each generation or two, only a few Stimons appear on the national horizon. It is men like he who keep a democratic nation on the straight path to its destiny, despite all the muddling mediocrity inevitably involved in democracy's workings. It is men like Stimson who make a free nation a great nation.

Anti-Aggression Plan Should Help UN Keep Peace

Nobody can say U. S. foreign affairs experts aren't trying. Our new plan for world defense against aggression, laid before the United Nations, shows great effort and imagination.

We propose:

To put the UN General Assembly on 24 hours call to deal with any new aggression in the event Russia hamstring the Security Council.

To create a "peace patrol" to investigate promptly any area where trouble threatens.

To establish a special UN military force contributed to by each member nation, to be held in constant readiness for action against an aggressor.

To create a UN committee to consider how to use collective action, including armed force, to carry out UN charter aims.

We go beyond measures of this type to suggest establishment of a UN "recovery force" to help rehabilitate and raise economic standards in backward or war-devastated countries. We recommend that such a force move into a liberated Korea first.

And we advise that Formosa, controversial Pacific bastion, have its ultimate fate settled by the UN rather than by individual nations.

Not since the General Assembly session of 1947 has the U. S. come up with such a hatful. But, of course, merely proposing is just a bare beginning. All these plans must be carefully weighed as to merit, worked out in detail, and pushed through over the opposition of Russia and her satellites.

Most difficult, obviously, would be to set up a UN military force. Russia has managed in the past to block every effort toward this end. She may still have some tricks left. But if it can be done legally under the General Assembly, where there is no veto, the obstacles are probably not insurmountable.

UN members generally have been criticized for not supplying ground force aid to the U. S. and other armies fighting in Korea. Yet there were numerous offers. U. S. commanders felt compelled to reject many because of supply problems, inadequate training and lack of sufficient size in the offered units. A UN force would have its own military advisers and training officers to weld the various components into an effective fighting force, equipped for immediate action.

America's program shows a high determination to surmount the Russian roadblock and work with other nations for peace—or at least to prevent little wars from growing into general conflict.

And our proposals show, too, that we understand that the free world must do more than simply halt aggressors; it must make life in a free society of nations worth living. Hence the suggested "recovery force" is a vital complementary part of the program.

The U. S. recommendations, if examination proves them feasible in detail, should gain the overwhelming support of the non-Communist UN members, and be placed in effect at the earliest moment.

LABELS CAN BECOME LIBELS

This matter of bringing words into closer relationships with the facts they symbolize can have serious consequences. A girl had a fear of the word "mother"—whenever she saw it or heard it a fear went over her and she revolted from the word. It was found that her mother had been very cruel to her, and the content of the word came from that fact. She was released only when she was made to understand that the word "mother" could and did stand for tenderness and understanding love in the experience of thousands. The word-fact relationship was righted, and she was freed.

We mentioned a young man who was jilted as the church bells were ringing, and whenever he saw or heard the word "church" or "bishop" he found himself seized by fear and revolt. Association brought this reaction. There was nothing wrong with the word "church" or "bishop," but he had carried over into the word a false meaning. His vocabulary needed to be cleansed from fear.

A theological professor rightly says: "Words in themselves mean nothing—the meanings go back to persons." We stick labels on whole people by saying, "All Japs are tricky." "All Americans are materialistic." These labels are false and unjust. Some Japanese are tricky, as some Americans are; but many Japanese are not. Some Americans are materialistic, and some are not. Such labels are libels.

A man was being introduced in a fulsome manner, so he arose and said, "The adjective is often the enemy of the noun." We must cleanse our adjectives and see that they fit the nouns. Gandhi was an example of this. He said that he would no more use ornate language than he would use ornate clothing. He reduced life and language to simplicity. When he spoke, his words were a revelation of fact. In Jesus this simplicity of speech came to its perfection. His words were so stripped of verbiage that they are fact. His statement was: "By thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned." We must surrender our vocabulary, then for cleansing.

O Christ, I do surrender my vocabulary to Thee, for I want my words, as Tagore says, "to come out of the heart of truth." Cleanse from my symbols of speech all unreality, all seeming, all veneer, and let me speak words that have been cleansed by the Word. In Jesus' name. Amen.

The Doctor Answers

By Dr. Jordan

Written for NEA Service

The state of the health influences many important decisions. The first question today is an example of how carefully decisions must be weighed.

Q—Can a young woman of 23 with an enlarged heart marry and bear children?

G. B. A—No one can give an answer to this question which will apply in all cases. The first step is to make a careful analysis of the cause of the enlargement and of the capacity of the heart to withstand physical strain. If the results are favorable, it may be possible to bear children, but even then it is necessary to watch for symptoms of heart strain particularly during the pregnancy. In other words, the answer to this question can be given only after careful study of the individual patient.

Q—For the last three or four months my eyelids have been swollen and my fingers too, at times. Could this be a sign of something seriously wrong?

Mrs. C. R.

A—The symptoms described can indeed be signs of something dangerously wrong. They suggest the presence of Bright's disease, although, of course, the diagnosis cannot be made without the examination of the urine, the blood pressure, and other tests. You should not delay having these done.

Q—Each year at about the same time, my hands break out with

HE CAME TO KILL

by ADELINE McELFRESH

Copyright 1950 by NEA Service, Inc.

THE STORY: Aunt Maggie, dominating matriarch of the Thorne, is murdered after she proposes a new will, cutting off her nephews, Peter and Jasper, and leaving the bulk of the estate to another nephew, Roger, father of her youthful companion, Leena Thorne. There is an unsuccessful attempt to cast suspicion on Leena, but Sheriff Clem Purdy and his deputy, Mart Preston, disregard it because Leena apparently had the least motive of all for murder before the will was signed. But Sandra, Jasper's wife, and Peter alibi each other and Jasper denies killing his aunt. Sandra had been accused by Aunt Maggie of stealing and pawned a valuable lavalliere owned by Aunt Agatha, sister of the murdered woman, and during the questioning Sandra admits she did this. Jasper offers to take Sandra away, even back to New York, but Sandra says "not now." To this, Peter inquires, "Is it because Jap is a risk man now?"

SHERRIFF CLEM PURDY'S eager eyes went around the room, leaving with each person in the Thorne household the eerie feeling that his innermost thoughts had been stripped bare.

"Now then we'll get on with things quickly, because it's getting late," he said after Mart Preston had finished bringing him up to the moment. "Coroner Zimbrunsky says it wouldn't have taken a strong person to have committed this crime because Miss Thorne was seriously ill with a heart condition anyhow. She had only a few months to live at best—which is mighty interesting in view of that new will which she was going to take to her lawyer. It would be the people who stood to lose the most should be the most suspected. And yet you'd have me believe that this girl Leena Thorne is the killer. Does that make sense?"

A horrible, gnawing silence followed. Leena dared not look up to meet the hate and suspicion that was pounding at her.

"To me it does, Purdy," Peter Thorne spoke slowly, as if he were feeling his way along a dark, dangerous precipice. "Cousin Leena did not know that, until that document was signed in the presence of witnesses who properly affixed their signatures, it was not worth the paper it was written on. It was merely wishes that in court could be called the work of a demented old woman. So she killed her and was leaving—"

"That wouldn't have been very smart, either, would it?" put in Mart Preston.

"Perhaps not," Peter admitted. "And again, perhaps Cousin Leena had it all figured out—just as it happened. She intended to be found, feigning unconsciousness, in the dark hall with that cock and bull story about somebody choking her. Then she could say Aunt Maggie had sent her after you—for protection—and one of us, either Jasper or Sandra or I, would burn for her crime. Or is all that too legal for you, Preston?"

"It smells to high heaven," Mart snapped.

"DEAR me," observed Sandra, "it's clear where your deputy's sympathies lie, Sheriff. Isn't it?"

"Is it?" Purdy scowled a warning at Mart nevertheless, adding, "It seems to me, now, that you folks are taking the wrong attitude. Why don't you try helping instead of hindering and see how quick we can get this thing over?"

"Oh," Sandra said lightly, "don't you know? They don't want it over. This way they're safe."

"They?" echoed the sheriff.

"Who, Mrs. Thorne?"

But Sandra merely gave him a sphinx-like smile that barely curved her tantalizing lips and looked at Peter, whose face flushed a dull red and then went white. The terror of a trapped animal was in his grayish eyes for a long moment before he managed to mask it.

"You're bungling this thing pretty badly," Peter finally said angrily. "But then I guess I can't expect the efficiency of a district attorney in a country sheriff's office. Will you permit me to call in a private investigator?"

"I won't stop you," Purdy promised.

"Well, I will!" Miss Agatha was on her feet, rocking back and forth like a sparrow clinging to a twig against a buffeting winter wind. "My sister was afraid of you, Peter, and I will not have a private detective hired by you in this house! I am the only honest-to-God Thorne left and—"

"Oh, shut up, Aunt Agatha," Peter groaned. "For the love of Pete!"

MISS AGGIE'S outburst had ripped his Harvard accent to shreds; he sounded almost human. Leena could feel sorry for him then, could even like him, but when he shrugged back into what she mentally called his holier-than-thou cloak he again became a potential murderer. Or was it any longer potential? Shudderingly, Leena wondered.

The remainder of the night would be long. Leena was glad when the sheriff announced his intention of leaving Mart Preston on guard, but she wondered what good one man would be if—

If what? she asked herself. If Peter decided to kill again? She waited until he had gone into the hall after Purdy before she stirred from her chair.

Sandra was waiting at the door. "I—I couldn't go with the others, Leena," she whispered. "I'm—I'm afraid of Jasper! May I stay in with you?"

Quick sympathy stabbed at the dislike between them. Leena nodded.

"Of course, Sandra," she said, and added: "If you're not afraid of me any more."

"You're a dear," Sandra said warmly. "After all I've— But Jasper has a gun! It's—Miss Maggie's, I think. I found it a while ago, under his pillow."

EDITOR'S NOTE: Here's another of a question-and-answer series that tells how the Korean war affects Reservists, veterans, draft-age men, and anyone likely to be called to service. The author, a member of the Washington staff of NEA Service, conducted a widely-read column on "Your GI Rights" in the months following World War II. He will answer questions only in this space, not by mail.)

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Q. My husband was in the Merchant Marine for two years during World War II but was never officially discharged. We have two children. Can he be drafted?

A. They aren't drafting fathers.

Q. I am 19 and have a commercial pilot's license. Can I get into the Air Force or Air Guard as a pilot?

A. You can't fly in service except by getting wings through the flight training schools.

Q. I enlisted in the Air Force for three years, but only served a little more than one year. On by requiring early rising and activity following operations, and by other new methods.

the back of my discharge is written "recommended" for further military training. What is my status?

A. By ending your active enlistment early you were required to finish the three years as a reservist. All enlistments, reserve and active, have been extended. You are therefore subject to recall. But unless you are in the critical category you won't be called.

Q. Can pilots who do not have college education get into the Air Force Cadet program?

A. No. At the present time you must have two years of college.

Q. I am of draft age and have registered with my board. But I have not received a questionnaire although all my friends have. Some of whom have been drafted. What do you advise doing?

A. Better call your draft board and tell them about it.

Q. My son is about to receive a medical discharge from the National Guard. Will that make him subject to the draft?

A. Yes, but chances are he won't pass the medical exam if he's getting a medical discharge from the National Guard.

Q. Are Army reserve commissions frozen?

A. Yes.

Fifth Column Aggression 'Gravest Of All Crimes'

tively pushed. Fifth columnists were busy in the United States, Britain and many other countries, spreading propaganda and trying to stir up trouble.

In October, 1933, F.D.R. invited Russia to confer on recognition. The Muscovites responded by sending Soviet Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinoff, who arrived in Washington on November 7. A conference with the President resulted in agreement and formal recognition was extended ten days later.

However, before agreement was reached the President read the riot act to Litvinoff and exacted sweeping pledges from him. The foreign minister guaranteed that his embassy in Washington would refrain from propaganda against the social or political order in America and would restrain any agency, under direct or indirect Soviet control, from interfering in this country's internal affairs.

Mr. Roosevelt made Litvinoff go even further. The minister promised that Americans living in the Soviet Union would have all the legal rights granted to the nationals of other countries, and would have full freedom of conscience and the right to worship as they liked. And there were other stipulations.

Well, things ostensibly quieted down for a while. The Soviet Union joined the League of Nations in 1934. The Communist International—or general staff for world revolution—shifted the character of its propaganda in many countries. Radical revolutionary demands were shoved into the background, and the Com-munists sought "alliances" with socialists and other political parties.

Then in 1939 came another radical change. Litvinoff, advocate of collective security, was relieved of his post as foreign minister and dropped into obscurity. Molotov, hard boiled old Bolshevik, took over.

Communism was on the war-path in full strength again. Fifth columns were working overtime. Stalin signed the non-aggression pact with Hitler, thus enabling the Fuehrer to launch his world war.

The rest of the story is fresh in everyone's mind. The world revolution is in full swing.

Honesty and Humility

A human tendency is to excuse the evil and magnify the good in ourselves. Honesty is too often a forgotten virtue when it comes to self-analysis. It is nevertheless essential if we are to cultivate a proper relationship toward God and neighbor.

Honesty with ourselves involves a high degree of humility, one of the virtues most pleasing to God. Humility should mark every approach to God. Humility is not exaggerated self-abasement, but a calm realization of our inherent weakness and inclination toward sin. In not seeking to conceal or ignore our faults, but willing to correct and repair them, we can be sure that God will bear compassion toward us.

He will not refuse to infuse strength and grace into our souls. With His aid, we shall grow in spiritual stature and in the process gain the peace of soul which is the greatest boon we can possess.

Humility is the only wise policy where God is concerned. It is also the only way in which we can live in peace and friendship with our fellow men.

Humility teaches that every human creature—with no exceptions whatever—is precious to God. It rejects the notion that we are superior to others in His eyes. It scorns the delusion that personal gifts of fortune or talent are marks of divine predilection.

Instead, it teaches that Christ is in every man; that the only sane and proper way to treat others is as brothers of a common Father. It reminds us that all are called to a partnership some day in God's eternal kingdom.

Humility does not mean that we must find everyone temperamentally agreeable. We cannot enjoy every man's company; the traits and ways of some bore or annoy us. But if we keep constantly aware of our own errors and shortcomings we shall not be harsh in judging our neighbor. Rather we shall find in him a call to service and genuine charity. We shall, like the humble Christ Himself, be patient with him and ever ready to enfold him in the mantle of our generosity and understanding compassion.

The Christian's Inner Life

The Bible, both in the Old Testament and the New, lays great stress upon the inner life. Old Testament writers, whose words of devotion and wisdom were the heritage of New Testament writers, were constantly insistent upon the fact that the true life did not consist in outward appearance, nor even in a display of good works.

"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he"; "Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life" (Proverbs 4:23). Not only were such thoughts constantly expressed in various ways, but a repeated and most distinctive prayer of these Old Testament saints was that God would search their hearts. "Search me, O God, and know my heart; try me and know my thoughts" (Psalm 139:23).

It is a solemn thought, that whatever we may appear to others, or even to ourselves (Paul admonished early Christians not to think of themselves more highly than they ought to think), we cannot hide from God. But it requires courage, as well as faith, to face that fact, and pray in sincerity that our hearts and lives may be open to that searching, but loving, all-seeing eye of God.

The late Dr. James Stalker, eminent Scottish minister, once published a sermon under the title, "The Four Men." The four, as he identified them, may be found in II Corinthians 4:3-4. They are: 1. The man his friends see, "that I should be judged of you." 2. The man the world sees, "for of man's judgment." 3. The man as he sees himself, "yea, I judge not mine own self." 4. The man God sees, "He that judgeth me is the Lord."

It is to know and be that last man, the man God knows, that is the true end and purpose of all a Christian's thought, prayer, and meditation. In achieving that, there are many aids to thought and devotion. The late George Matheson, the famous blind preacher of Scotland, and author of the hymn, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go," published a series of what he called "devotional meditations," some under the title of "Moments on the Mount."

There are standard devotional aids, both in Roman Catholic and Protestant literature and there are current booklets from which many derive help. I edited for several years the little manual, "Daily Devotions" for the Congregational Christian churches and one of the best known, and widely used among those of all denominations, is the Methodist booklet, "The Upper Room."

I do not disparage these, but it is my conviction that the best aid to Christian thought and devotion is the New Testament itself, and all other aids are of value only as they help to bring light and understanding to what is there. It is my belief, also, that much reading and meditation upon the Scriptures, even without any other aid, brings its own reward.

John Robinson, pastor of the pilgrims in Holland, before they came to Plymouth, warned them that there was more light to break from God's word; and there is even more such light to break for those who seek it.

Anniversary For Goodwill Chapel Sunday

Church Organized And Dedicated 50 Years Ago

It was in October, fifty years ago, that Goodwill Chapel, a small Methodist church southeast of Sedalia, was dedicated, and Sunday the 50th anniversary will be observed with all day services and basket dinner.

For many years Sunday school was held in Striped College school, and ministers went to the school occasionally to talk. Among those remembered most were Porter, Wesley, Anthony and Wisker.

In the '90's a woman minister by the name of Forbes with an assistant, Mrs. Allison, held a revival meeting across the road from where Goodwill Chapel now stands and from them came the inspiration to build a church in that neighborhood.

Organized by Rev. Bitler

Rev. Mr. Wisker then organized among the young people the Christian Endeavor and in the middle '90's the Rev. J. S. Bitler, pastor of the First Methodist church, organized the church and got it started. In 1898 or 1899 Rev. M. Bitler had classes and the plans for the new church grew until the church was finally built and dedicated in October, 1900.

There were about 20 members in the church at the beginning and four of the original members are still living, three of them still in the congregation of the little church. They are Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Garrett and Mrs. Carrie Reed. The fourth, Mrs. Wallace Yost, now resides in Florida. The first pastor of the church was the Rev. W. T. Scott.

The Rev. Carl Opp is the present pastor.

Missing AP Man Died in Action

By O. H. P. King

PYONGYANG, Korea, Oct. 27.—(P)—William R. Moore, missing Associated Press correspondent, was killed in action on the South Korean war front, while helping to save a wounded Army lieutenant, a corporal who was captured in the same action said today.

The 40-year-old former Oklahoma City newspaperman, an Army major during World War II, failed to return from a voluntary mission which took him to the Chinju front last July 31.

American forces then were making a desperate effort to stem the Red drive on Pusan, only 55 air miles to the east.

Cpl. Carl M. Anderson, of Sioux City, Ia., said Moore had not been captured.

"I saw his body lying in a pool of water," he said. "There were nine of us and some South Koreans. Only one other man and I got out alive—and we were captured."

Anderson said he knew Moore and "there is no mistake about his identity."

"He was taking notes for the AP while he was with us," the corporal added.

The North Koreans attacked July 30, Anderson said, and his outfit—a heavy tank platoon attached to the 24th Division—started a withdrawal.

"We had come four miles toward Masan, out of Chinju, when we were stopped by a blown-up bridge," he recalled. "We could not get our tanks across. We had some wounded, including our lieutenant."

"Bill Moore helped carry the litter holding the lieutenant. We made our way under the demolished bridge and stayed there."

Anderson continued: "There were eight of us left and Bill made nine, not counting three or four South Koreans who jumped on the back of our tank."

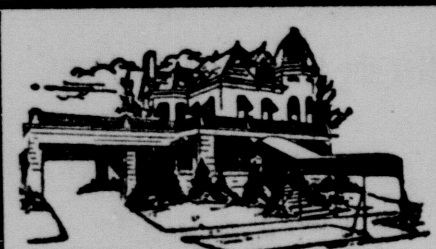

"I don't know what became of the Koreans."

"Bill was killed between 2 p.m. and 4:30 by mortar, small arms or grenade fire."

Police Break up Bet Business

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—(P)—City police broke up a large-scale, interstate betting business with a raid yesterday on a handbook in the basement of a downtown building.

Manning two telephones at the place, they accepted about $10,000 worth of bets in two hours. Capt. Joseph Wren of the police gambling squad said the names of 50 or 60 long-distance bettors were obtained.

The calls came from several states, Wren said, and one was from a Texan who placed a $1,000 bet "across the board."

Two men were arrested. They were identified by police as Steve Montefelice, 44, and George Duckworth, 26.

Montefelice was one of the men arrested last June 5 in a raid on the C. J. Rich and Co. of St. Louis county, described by police as a nation-wide clearing house for bets. Charles J. Rich head of that business, is under indictment in New Jersey on charges of violating gambling laws by accepting racing bets from that state.

Police said Duckworth was driving Rich's car shortly before he entered the handbook yesterday in the 900-block of Chestnut street.

Wren said the setup at the two places was similar except that long-distance telephone calls were used in the St. Louis establishment and telegrams were used by C. J. Rich and Co.

The police bet-taking operations yesterday stopped when the telephones unaccountably went dead. Wren said. He said many of the bets were for $200 and $100 but that some ranged down to $5.

The handbook had been under police scrutiny for two months. It accepted local as well as long-distance bets, Wren said.

Trod Through Snow Toward Manchurian Communist Border

North Koreans popped up in scattered areas.

Rush to Check Marauders

Two battalions of U.S. and ROK Marines were rushed south of Wonsan port to stop a marauding band of 4,000 Reds striking from the Diamond mountains. It is 39 to 40 miles from the big east coast port where U.S. Marines and infantry and ROK Marines began landing Thursday.

An American Marine battalion from Wonsan landed at Kojo. A battalion of South Korean Marines landed farther south to spring a trap around the terrorists, led by a Red Korean brigadier general.

A U.S. 10th Army spokesman at Wonsan said the situation was not serious, but added:

"There are more North Koreans behind us than ahead of us. They are coming out of the hills all down the coast raiding towns, holding up trains and generally annoying us."

One unconfirmed report said Red raiders killed all villagers at Iri who had been friendly to Allied troops. The town is north of Wonsan. There was no estimate on the loss of life.

A spokesman for the Marine First Air Wing said pilots had killed 1,000 Red raiders south of Wonsan in four days.

An 8th Army spokesman at Seoul said he could not verify ROK frontline reports of facing large forces of organized Chinese Reds. He doubted if they were true.

AP Correspondent O. H. P. King quoted one high staff officer:

"The rumor of 60,000 Chinese Communists in North Korea is purely rumor as far as I am concerned. I have not seen any."

But reports that Chinese Reds were fighting on the North Korean side persisted.

One Chinese Red prisoner was quoted as saying two divisions of Chinese-Korean troops had crossed the Yalu from Manchuria to get into the fight.

AP Correspondent Hal Boyle expressed the belief the Chinese encountered by the ROKs were border inhabitants induced to "volunteer" for service in the dying North Korean army's last stand.

Boyle said all sources he talked with expressed disbelief they were fighting segments of the Chinese Communist army.

A U.S. Fifth Air Force spokesman said no movement of Red troops from the north had been seen by pilots since the fall of Pyongyang Oct. 20.

"The movement of the enemy today," he said, "was still toward Manchuria—not from it."

The British Commonwealth 27th Brigade and the U.S. 24th Infantry Division were preparing to lunge toward the Manchurian border on the Far Western side of the peninsula.

On the east coast AP Correspondent Stan Swinton reported Red bandit groups ranging from company to battalion size foraging for food and supplies.

He said one gang of 1,500 Reds looted the town of Ichon on the Sea of Japan coast.

On the Far to the north of these eastern coast forays, the ROK capital Division plodded over two inches of snow toward the Manchurian border. It was only 38 miles away at last report.

Aid Against High Dams

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 27.—(P)—Missouri may have the support of other states in its fight against high dams on clear water Ozark streams.

Gov. Forrest Smith said last night representatives of other states on the Arkansas-White-Red Basins Inter-Agency committee told him, in effect: "We'll back your policies if you'll support ours."

The governor called a little huddle of the state representatives after an all-day session of the three basins committee. It is the federal-state group that is trying to work out a development plan for the area.

Would Condemn Any Isolation

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 27.—(P)—Chile proposed today that the United Nations aid the cause of peace by condemning any isolation of a people from the rest of the world.

The proposal was advanced in the General Assembly's political committee by Chilean Delegate Jacobo Schaulsohn. He offered it as an amendment to an American-backed six-power resolution defining aggression as the gravest crime against humanity.

Schaulsohn said the world suspects a government does not want peace when it adopts measures intended to prevent its people "from having knowledge of the affairs of others."

The six-power proposal is a counter-resolution to a Soviet "peace" plan that also is under debate in the committee. The Russian resolution asks for a five-power peace pact, condemnation of "propaganda in favor of a new war" and the branding of the first country to use the atom bomb as a war criminal.

Chile's proposal clearly is aimed at the Soviet Union. It recommends "the free exchange of information and ideas as one of the bases of good neighborly relations between peoples."

Liquor Permit Revoked by K.C. Officials

DiGiovanni Brothers
Alleged Members of Secret Mafia Group

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 27—(AP)—Thursday the city revoked a lucrative wholesale liquor permit of two men named as members of the Mafia in testimony before the Senate crime investigating committee. The Mafia is a Sicilian underworld secret society.

Fred R. Johnson, director of liquor control, picked up the license of the Midwest Distributing Company, owned by Joseph and Peter DiGiovanni. They are brothers.

False Statements
Johnson ruled that both had made false statements on all their city applications since 1934. He said both claimed they never had been arrested and never convicted of a felony.

Their attorney acknowledged both Joseph and Peter had pleaded guilty twice to federal charges of violating the national prohibition act.

Joseph was a prominent witness at the September session here of the Senate crime committee, headed by Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

Claude Fallmer, federal narcotics agent, testified Joseph, known as "Scarface," was a leader of the Mafia in Kansas City and that his brother, Peter, was a member.

Denied Arrest
At that time Joseph denied ever having been arrested until he was confronted with police records showing arrests on charges of murder, bootlegging and kidnapping.

The DiGiovanni firm, midwest, holds the exclusive franchise to distribute Seagrams liquors in Jackson county. The county includes Kansas City.

DiGiovanni's attorney, Richard K. Phelps, said he would appeal the revocation. Phelps said the applications for permits were made out by a woman employee who was ignorant of the facts.

The DiGiovanni brothers, being unable to read, did not notice the omissions when they signed the applications, Phelps said.
"That was wholly a matter of oversight," the attorney added.

Snake Dance Opens Homecoming Activity

Smith-Cotton high school students displayed plenty of school spirit in a "snake dance" Friday night, which was the kick-off of homecoming activities to be continued until late tonight. About 350 students took part in the "dance" that started from the school and went through the business district. Many students fell to the street as they were whipped out of the single column with powerful force. No injuries were reported. After the snake dance the procession went to the high school where school songs and yells were given.

Cooperation For Production

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—(AP)—The United States and Canada agreed Thursday on a 6-point program of cooperation in production for defense.

Similar to an agreement in effect during world war two, it provides among other things for swapping technical knowledge and for a coordinated system of controls over distribution of scarce raw materials and supplies.

The State department said it expects the understanding "will greatly increase our industrial mobilization potential and will enable us better to prepare ourselves for any military emergencies which may arise."

Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Canadian Ambassador Hume Wrong signed an exchange of notes setting forth a set of principles each country will follow.

These call for the United States and Canada to:

1. Develop a "coordinated program" of production, procurement and requirements of raw materials and finished military items.

2. Institute parallel controls over distribution of scarce raw materials and supplies.

3. Consult before instituting any controls which affect the economy of the other.

4. Exchange technical knowledge and productive skills freely in order to boost essential military production.

5. Remove as far as possible any trade barriers which impede the flow of goods essential for the common defense effort across the Canadian-American border.

6. Consult each other about "financial or foreign exchange problems" which may arise as a result of the agreement.

Truman Plans To Vote at Home

By the Associated Press
Pres. Truman said Thursday he is considering making one or two political talks before the November election. He indicated that if he does the speeches will be in nationwide broadcasts from Washington.

Mr. Truman was questioned about his campaign plans at his weekly news conference.

He said chairman William Boyle of the Democratic national committee had urged him to make some speeches before the election. It was the duty of the chairman to do that, he added.

Mr. Truman then said he had not made up his mind, but had under consideration one or two talks, possibly from Washington.

More definitely, he said: (1) He doesn't plan a night-before-election talk, and (2) he expects to go to his home at Independence Mo., to vote.

Rate Rizzuto Winner of Top Award

Most Valuable Player in The American League

By Ralph Roden
NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—(AP)—Phil Rizzuto, who was chased out of the Polo Grounds and Ebbets Field because he was "too small" is the most valuable player in the American League for 1950.

Rizzuto, the little gamecock who plays a man sized shortstop for the world champion New York Yankees, won the coveted award yesterday with plenty to spare.

The 32-year-old star polled 16 of 23 first place votes and 284 of a maximum 322 points in a poll conducted by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Boston's Billy Goodman, the league's batting champion, finished a distant second. Goodman received only four first place ballots and wound up with 180 points. Catcher Yogi Berra of the Yankees drew the three remaining first place votes and finished third with 146 points.

Ted Williams of Boston, last year's winner, finished in a three-year tie for 19th. Williams drew only seven votes. The great slugger however missed a good part of the season because of a broken elbow.

Copping the most valuable player award completes Rizzuto's most brilliant season in the game.

Never much of a power hitter in the past, Rizzuto switched to a Johnny Mize model bat at the beginning of the season and began hitting for extra bases with the heavier bat. He wound up with 50 extra base blows and the highest batting average of his major league career, .324.

Despite his slight stature (5-foot-6 inches, 165 pounds) Rizzuto was the only Yankee to play in every one of his team's games. Rizzuto, a product of the sandlots of New York, attempted to break into pro baseball with the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers back in the late thirties, but was chased out of the park. He showed up at a Yankee tryout and made good. Rizzuto came up to the Yankees from Kansas City in 1941 and hit .307. He was in the Navy from 1943 to 1945. Rizzuto rejoined the Yankees in 1946 and has been a tower of strength ever since.

The votes figured on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

Guard 'Whitey' Bryant Rates Respect From All Opponents

Judging from the way the football experts have been moaning the past few weeks, football is a hard game to figure. However, it is safe to make one forecast concerning tonight's homecoming contest between the S-C Tigers and the Jeff City Jays—few will be the plays Jay quarterback Pete Walz will call through the center of the Tiger line.

This prediction does not mean Jeff City is a passing team or that the astute Mr. Walz has an affinity for outside plays. It means that the Jays, like the rest of the S-C opponents have a healthy respect for the defensive ability of the Tiger's all-conference guard, Delbert Bryant.

The respect held for Bryant is nothing new nor does it come about by accident. This will be the fourth year "Whitey" has earned an S-C letter, and the fifth he has worn the Tiger uniform. He has received thorough coaching from the competent Ralph Dow. And he has learned a great deal the hard way, as D. Axe attested by a broken leg (acquired as a freshman) and several cracked ribs.

Last season he climaxed a brilliant campaign by winning unanimous all-conference honors and has displayed steady improvement this year. In his first two games he blocked five punts which is stellar playing in anyone's league. Bryant combines the physical attributes necessary for a single-wing guard. He stands 5-feet-11, weighs 170 pounds and is fast and agile. His speed is such that he runs the dashes on the Tiger track squad. He lettered in track as a sophomore, doubling as a dash man and a broad jumper. This speed gives him a wide lateral range which enables him to make tackles and blocks far from a guard's normal field of operation. This is of particular importance in single-wing plays which call for the guard to "pull out" and lead the ball carrier's interference.

Bryant is far from "down" after the Bengals' first loss of the season, suffered last week-end at the hands of the Columbia Kewpies. He sums it up in short style. "We were out-hustled and out-played. The Columbia team was in better condition, but not better coached. It should teach us a lesson." He firmly believes the Bengals will bounce back tonight to play one of their better games of the year.

Faurot High on Bryant
While rumor places "Whitey" high on the "desired" list come he runs the dashes on the Tiger

S-C Winds-up Preparations For Jeff City

New Line-up Puts Alcorn at Tackle, Burton at Half

Coach Ralph Dow tapered-off pre-Jeff City drills yesterday by putting his Tigers through a light dummy scrimmage. While the boys worked in full equipment, there was no scrimmage or contact work.

Dow Is Tight-Lipped
As usual, Dow was tight-lipped when asked for a pre-game prediction. He has worked his men harder this week than at any time this season, so it is clear that he is not taking the Jay encounter lightly. Early this week Dow was openly distressed by the let-down piled by Don Faurot on Missouri high school athletes, Bryant's present plans are to attend CMSC at Warrensburg. He intends to take a major in history and a minor in physical education. His ultimate aim is to acquire a teaching position, preferably in history, and undoubtedly in a school with a football team.

In college he plans to participate in both football and track, so wherever he goes, someone is going to fall heir to a fine athlete.

The Bengals suffered after losing their first game of the year to the Columbia Kewpies. At that time, however, he felt his squad would bounce back with the start of extensive homecoming activities.
Jays Are Explosive
The Jays, while not rated as highly as the Tigers, Columbia or M. M. A. in the conference, are the explosive type of club which will give anyone a rough night. Also to be considered is the intense rivalry which has built up through the years between Sedalia and Jefferson City.

Tigers Show Improvement In Their Play

Pre-Season Chance Given to Unseat Oklahoma U.

By Skipper Patrick

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 27—(AP)—The thin men — in personnel, that is — get together at Stillwater, Okla., tomorrow.

It's the fourth football meeting of Missouri's Big Seven conference Tigers and the Oklahoma A&M Aggies of the Missouri Valley loop.

Missouri, given a good chance in pre-season to unseat Oklahoma university as Big Seven title holder, started feebly in losing by lopsided scores to Clemson and Southern Methodist. The Tigers looked a mite better in beating Kansas State and showed improvement in a 20-20 tie with Iowa State last week.

Coach J. B. (Ears) Whitworth's Oklahoma Aggies, counted last in the Valley conference in August, pulled big surprises by beating TCU and Arkansas and tying Drake, but foundered the last two Saturdays while getting swamped by SMU and Kansas.

Missouri isn't thin numerically and the Tigers have plenty of weight but Coach Don Faurot's team has been hard hit all season by injuries to key men.

Oklahoma, which started with a "thin 30" squad, actually is down to about 20 or less able bodied men of college football caliber.

A victory would be a big boost for either club. Missouri still is in the Big Seven race with one victory and a tie. A&M has a tie in the only conference game its played.

So bad was the physical condition of Missouri, according to Faurot, that a scheduled B team game with the Arkansas B squad tomorrow had to be postponed. Faurot says he will have to use too many B boys against the Aggies.

The Oklahoma Sooners were to fly to Ames, Iowa, today where they'll meet Iowa State tomorrow. There was some question as to whether fullback Leon Heath, nursing a shoulder injury, would be able to play.

End Sonny Wilhelm and halfback Mark Rothacker will co-captain Iowa State against Oklahoma.

The Nebraska Cornhuskers, who will meet the Kansas Jayhawks at Lawrence, Kas., in one of the top games of the day, will work out in Topeka tonight. Sophomore fullback Bill Wingender, who started three of the four Nebraska games, was to be left at home because of injuries.

In good physical and mental condition, Kansas Jayhawks marked time today awaiting arrival of the Cornhuskers.

A 37-man Colorado squad headed across the mountains for Salt Lake City where the Buffaloes will meet Utah tomorrow. Each team has won 22 games in the long series. There have been two ties.

Robinson Gives 'K O' to Olson

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27—(AP)—The promoters are still marching in the lams and Ray (Sugar) Robinson continues to slaughter them.

Last night it was Carl (Bobo) Olson who faced the Robinson fists. Fresh from the Hawaiian islands, 22-year-old Olson tried to win Robinson's Pennsylvania-version middleweight championship of traveling was his fourth defeat in 33 fights.

Robinson set Olson down for the count in 1:19 of the twelfth round of a scheduled 15-rounder at Convention hall.

Olson never had a chance. One judge gave him a round while the other judge and the referee called one round even and gave

Development Of River Basins In Ozarks Area

Discussed at Meeting Held Today at Jefferson City

By Larry Hall

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 27 — (P)—Gov. Smith said on Thursday Missouri wants to work closely with other states in developing the Arkansas, White and Red River basins.

"Missouri's attitude is not dog-in-the-manger," he told the federal-state inter-agency committee trying to work out a plan for the three basins.

"We want to live and let live."

Lt. Col. Louis W. Prentiss, division Army engineer at Dallas and chairman of the committee, promised in turn that the desires of the states would be carefully considered.

"We are approaching the entire problem of development with an open mind," he said. "We want to provide what the people want."

One speaker expressed some doubt about financing the huge program when it is finally mapped out. But Prentiss said that shouldn't affect the planning. Financing will be up to Congress.

"We should plan for the ultimate and then let the chips fall where they may when Congress goes to put the money on the barrel head," he said.

Problems Outlined

A battery of Missouri experts outlined the special problems of the Ozark region in the southern part of the state. John A. Short, a former Missourian who represents the U.S. Department of Agriculture on the three-basin committee, said forestry and special agricultural planning are basic for the Missouri parts of the program.

Governor Smith agreed. "We in Missouri should hang our heads in shame because we haven't done more in forestry than we have," he said. "It is the chief source of income in that large section of southern Missouri."

He promised the state would do more in forestry work in the future.

Today's meeting was the first in Missouri for the Arkansas-White-Red basins inter-agency committee and the third full scale session since the group was established last summer.

The three-basins committee is still in the preliminary stages. By July, 1952, it hopes to have a broad program of development ready to present to Congress and the President.

It is starting from scratch. That is different from the Missouri basin inter-agency committee which took over the Pick-Sloan plan and is trying to put it into effect.

Today's meeting was designed to let Missouri spokesmen tell what they think should be studied in the White and Arkansas basins—the only two that catch the flow of Missouri streams.

In speeches prepared for delivery the Missouri officials insisted:

(1) That any final plan be broad enough to cover all resources, and

(2) That it take into consideration the peculiar needs of the Ozark region, an area of very old, rocky mountains and thin soil.

The state already is on record against high dams on the clear water streams that have become famous recreational spots. There were hints today that policy would be continued, although the formal speeches steered around that point.

The television transmission band consists of two parts, electrically separated, one for sound and the other for the picture.

Hal Boyle COLUMN

By Don Whitehead (For Hal Boyle)

The 118th Station Hospital, FUKUOKA, Japan—(P)—In the friendly warmth of this hospital American soldiers are recovering slowly from the horrors of weeks spent as captives of the North Korean Reds.

Their ghastly ordeal is being pushed into the shadowy background of experience with the realization that they are safe among friends, and that soon they will be able to return to a normal life.

The survivors of the Suncheon massacre—in which at least 68 Americans were murdered—have even reached the point where some of them are beginning to gripe mildly about hospital routine.

That's a good sign. A soldier who gripes is suffering from a common ailment among all troops who must knuckle down to any kind of discipline. It usually means he's just normal.

Last Saturday one soldier lay on a ridge above the scene of the massacre—a gaunt youth whose eyes showed the suffering he had endured. And he said he was able to crawl down the ridge without help if necessary to get to a truck convoy.

Today the same soldier lay between clean white sheets and looked around for the nurse. "That nurse hasn't been around for 15 minutes," he griped. "I wonder how long I'm going to have to wait for her."

Some of the men were grumbling because they were on a liquid diet and couldn't have steaks. But the nurses and doctors don't mind this kind of griping. It's a pretty good sign the patient is doing all right.

The big problem for most of the massacre survivors is to regain the pounds they lost during weeks of starvation in mistreatment. Some lost as much as 50 and 60 pounds.

Lanky M-Sgt. Barney Ruffatto of Lead, S. D., weighed 180 pounds but now can muster only 130. But he is sitting in bed calmly smoking his pipe and chattering to any of the nurses who happen to stop by.

Every once in a while a Red Cross girl makes the rounds of the wards to see if the men need cigarettes, toilet articles or writing materials.

But sometimes the serenity is upset. Such as when one massacre survivor got his first look at North Korean prisoners of war being treated in this same hospital.

These Red soldiers were brought from Korea and are being given the same medical care that is given to our own troops. They were placed in a ward on an upper floor, and in a shift of patients the survivor was wheeled into the same ward.

The youth went berserk for a few minutes after he saw the North Koreans. All the bitterness and fear and hatred welled up again and he had to be restrained from going after the Reds. But then he was taken into another

Nobel Awards to Mayo Doctors

By Gustav Svensson

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Oct. 27 —(P)—Two Mayo clinic doctors and a Swiss professor will share the 1950 Nobel prize in medicine. The award recognizes their work on two hormones—cortisone and acth—which have brought the promise of relief to millions from the great pain of rheumatoid arthritis. Their work has opened up a new field of medicine—one of the most important of the century.

The Caroline Institute, which awards the prize, announced the winners Thursday—Dr. Philip S. Hench and Edward C. Kendall, both of the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., and Tadeusz Re-room and soon seemed to forget that his former enemies were only a few feet away.

In the hospital, the former U. S. prisoners of war are known as Ramps—rehabilitated American military personnel. And they have been given special treatment by nurses and other hospital personnel who have tried as best they could to help these men forget the past few weeks.

The Japanese also have shown a special feeling for these men. Japanese leaders of women's clubs come to the hospital with huge bouquets of flowers to be placed at the bedside of the patients. But the best healing for these men is the knowledge that they are safe—and once more among friends who will take care of them with kindness.

S-C Winds-up Preparations For Jeff City

New Line-up Puts Alcorn at Tackle, Burton at Half

Coach Ralph Dow tapered-off pre-Jeff City drills yesterday by putting his Tigers through a light dummy scrimmage. While the boys worked in full equipment, there was no scrimmage or contact work.

Dow Is Tight-Lipped

As usual, Dow was tight-lipped when asked for a pre-game prediction. He has worked his men harder this week than at any time this season, so it is clear that he is not taking the Jay encounter lightly. Early this week Dow was openly distressed by the let-down the Bengals suffered after losing their first game of the year to the Columbia Kewpies. At that time, however, he felt his squad would bounce back with the start of extensive homecoming activities.

FOR ADDITIONAL
SPORTS SEE PAGE 12

Jays Are Explosive

The Jays, while not rated as highly as the Tigers, Columbia or M. M. A. in the conference, are the explosive type of club which will give anyone a rough night. Also to be considered is the intense rivalry which has built up through the years between Sedalia and Jefferson City.

Any way you look at it, there will be a fine ball-game tonight at Liberty Park starting at 8:00 o'clock.

The probable starting line-ups:

SEDALIA	JEFF CITY

Alcorn	LT Caplinger
Bryant	LG Kinder
Schultz	C Jones
Walch	RE Gilmore
Wheeler	RT Rector
Shawver	RE Walz
Arnold	Q Gabel

KOSCIUSKO, Miss., Oct. 26—(P)—Mrs. Clyde Beatty, wife and circus partner of the famous animal trainer, was found dead in her railroad car home here yesterday while her husband and the Beatty circus performed a matinee.

A circus official said the cause of death apparently was a heart attack. She had been ill for about six months.

Dies As Auto Overtakes

JASPER, Ark., Oct. 26—(P)—An automobile accident near here yesterday claimed the life of Miss Daisy Stanley, 67, and caused injuries to Mrs. Edith McKnight, also 67, both of Butler, Mo.

Mrs. McKnight was taken to a Harrison, Ark., hospital. The automobile in which the women were returning from Texas overturned on the highway.

Lomanitz, A-Bomb Scientist Praises Work of Grand Jury

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 26—(P)—Giovanni Rossi Lomanitz, former atomic scientist involved recently in several Communist questionings, praised a federal grand jury which he appeared before today.

Lomanitz, who was graduated from the University of Oklahoma at 18, was called before the jury yesterday.

He was accused of refusing to answer questions and was threatened with contempt of court by Federal Judge W. R. Wallace if he retained the same attitude in further questioning today.

Lomanitz, now 29, talked freely to the jurors but just what questions he was asked were not made known by the United States district attorney Robert Shelton. The jurors said he answered all queries satisfactorily.

At yesterday's session, Shelton indicated that the young scientist was asked what knowledge he had of two men in California. They along with Lomanitz, presumably they are two who were cited for contempt of Congress for refusing to tell whether they were members of a Communist

Liquor Permit Revoked for K.C. Officials

Digiovanni Brothers Named Members of Secret MAFIA Group

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 26—(P)—The city today revoked the lucrative wholesale liquor permit of two men named as members of the MAFIA in testimony before the Senate crime investigating committee. The MAFIA is a Sicilian underworld secret society.

Fred R. Johnson, director of liquor control, picked up the license of the Midwest Distributing Company, owned by Joseph and Peter Digiovanni. They are brothers.

Johnson ruled that both had made false statements on all their city applications since 1934. He said both claimed they never had been arrested and never convicted of a felony.

Their attorney acknowledged both Joseph and Peter had pleaded guilty twice to federal charges of violating the national prohibition act.

Joseph was a prominent witness at the September session here of the Senate crime committee, headed by Senator Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

Claude Fallmer, federal narcotics agent, testified Joseph, known as "Scarface," was a leader of the MAFIA in Kansas City and that his brother, Peter, was a member.

Denied Arrest

At that time Joseph denied ever having been arrested until he was confronted with police records showing arrests on charges of murder, bootlegging and kidnapping.

The Digiovanni firm, midwest, holds the exclusive franchise to distribute Seagrams liquors in Jackson county. The county includes Kansas City.

The Digiovanni's attorney, Richard K. Phelps, said he would appeal the revocation. Phelps said the applications for permits were made out by a woman employee who was ignorant of the facts.

The Digiovanni brothers, being unable to read, did not notice the commissions when they signed the applications, Phelps said.

"That was wholly a matter of oversight," the attorney added.

Vishinsky's Peace Pact Call Answered

Austin Says Russians Have Shown no Basic Change Of Heart

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 26—(P)—American Delegate Warren R. Austin today urged the U. N. political committee to reject Russia's proposals for a big five peace pact and a one-third cut in the armed forces of the five powers. He tagged the proposals an "iceberg" plan full of hidden peril.

Austin told the committee the Russians have shown "no evidence of a basic change of heart" that would commit them to help stop aggression. He said a vote against the thing the U. N. has done in "the greatest trial of its life."

Nationalist China also turned down Vishinsky's ideas. Its delegate, T. F. Tsiang, said the "Communist regime in China today is as subject to Soviet aggression as my government was."

Proposes Peace Fund

Sir B. N. Rau, India, tossed in a proposal for an international peace fund to be made up partly from money saved by a general disarmament program on the part of all nations. He called the U. N. members to specify by next March how much and on what basis they were willing to reduce their armaments and contribute to this fund. He said this fund could be used to fight hunger and disease and raise the standard of living in under-developed areas.

Rau's plan apparently was an outgrowth of President Truman's speech Tuesday in which he called for greater efforts to help under developed countries and set up a fool-proof disarmament scheme.

Boycott Ends

The Soviet Union, meanwhile, ended its nine-months boycott of the five-nation military staff committee. This group, made up of representatives of the chiefs of staff of the United States, the Soviet Union, France, China and Britain, met in New York City in secret. For the first time since last January, Maj. Gen. Ivan A. Sklarov led his delegation into the room just as if he had attended every meeting of the committee. The disagreement on how to set up a U. N. police force under the Charter continued despite the Soviet return.

The Russians have walked back into two other organizations—the Security Council and the Economic and Social Council. The boycott was called because of the presence of Nationalist China. The Russians have come back without explanation and despite the fact that Nationalist China still is here.

Fifteen More

Ash, 1204 South Washington avenue; Harold W. Bell, 318 West Eleventh street; Robert F. Swearingen, Warsaw.

Mrs. Leonard Williams, clerk of the Pettis County Selective Service Board, has received a call for 20 men to leave Sedalia on November 20th for their physical examination in Kansas City.

The charges were dismissed.

Roundup of News

Newsprint Hit by Prices Hike

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(P)—Canada's largest newsprint producer increased prices today. International Paper Sales Company, representing the big International Paper Company group, announced its price would go up $6 a ton Nov. 1.

It was the sixth Dominion newsprint manufacturer in two weeks to announce a price increase. But International was the first of the six to hike prices less than $10 a ton. The New York price of newsprint is currently $100 a ton and it appeared likely that there might be two price scales set up in the industry.

International's customers will pay $106 a ton, New York basis, while those of the other five companies will pay $110.

The increases of all the companies are effective Nov. 1 and all have given the same reason for the price boost—their own rising costs.

Recommend Commander for Europe

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—(P)—Military representatives of the North Atlantic pact nations recommended tonight that a supreme commander for a combined force to defend western Europe be set up without delay.

An American spokesman declined to reveal whether the North Atlantic military committee which made this recommendation urged also that the supreme commander be an American.

There is a general belief in the capital, however, that appointment of an American was recommended. General Dwight D. Eisenhower, who has been mentioned often as a possible choice for the post, is coming to Washington Saturday to discuss undisclosed matters with defense officials.

The White House said he would probably confer also with President Truman.

It was reported reliably that the military committee favored creation of a supreme commander without an interim period in which a combined force would be organized and trained by a chief of staff.

Gabrielson Charges Democrats

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(P)—Guy George Gabrielson, chairman of the Republican national committee, charged today that the Democrats are seeking to deceive the people by shelving "their Socialist proposals" until after the election.

In his first address in New York state in the present campaign, Gabrielson declared the Democrats are afraid to "talk about their Socialist program any more."

He told a luncheon meeting of the Women's National Republican club that President Truman had discovered that Americans "are opposed to his creeping Socialism."

As a result, Gabrielson said, the Democrats have quit outwardly supporting such proposals as federal compulsory health insurance, the Brannan farm plan, "high taxes and deficit spending" which the GOP chairman termed parts of "the Truman program of Socialism."

GM Nets $702,655,156

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(P)—General Motors today reported a record net income of $702,655,156 or $7.89 per share of the new common stock, for the first nine months of this year.

This compared with net income of $502,414,029, equivalent to $5.60 a share of the new common stock, for the corresponding period last year.

It was the first earnings report since the two-for-one split of General Motors' approximately 44,000,000 shares of $10 common stock into 88,000,000 shares of $5 par value, effective Oct. 3.

The nine-month earnings for 1950 reflect the increase from 36 to 42 per cent in the federal corporate income tax rate. Net income for the third quarter of the year totalled $217,377,767 or $2.44 a share compared with $198,735,386, equivalent to $2.22 a share of the new common stock, for the corresponding period in 1949.

Guardsmen Releaser, Summer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26—(P)—Secretary Pace said today the Army hopes to start releasing mobilized National Guardsmen and reservists next summer in a program which may be completed before early 1952.

Pace indicated that more American troops may begin to flow to Europe soon, but he said the Army does not now plan to send any National Guard units overseas.

In another military manpower development, the Air Force said it will halt immediately the call-up of enlisted reserves.

These facts came out as the four services set up new procedures covering the recall and the discharge of reservists. The Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force issued separate instructions to carry out Defense Secretary Marshall's directive of Monday outlining an "orderly" policy for mobilization of reserve units and individuals.

Marshall said that reservists must be kept on active duty involuntarily only until the increased manpower requirements of the services can be met, and reservists or units so recalled have reached a state of maximum training.

Churchill Describes His Meeting With Stalin . . .

NEW YORK, Oct. 26—(P)—Premier Stalin took badly the news that there would be no second European front in 1942 when Winston Churchill told him on a trip to Moscow.

Stalin said "a great many disagreeable things" and said the British army was afraid to fight the Germans, Churchill relates in the fourth volume of his war memoirs, now being serialized in Life magazine.

But Churchill said he did not taunt Stalin and that they finally parted amicably. Stalin became annoyed after Churchill told him operation "Sledgehammer"—the invasion of the continent in 1942—would have to give way to operation "torch"—the invasion of North Africa.

Stalin was deeply interested in "torch," seeing all its implications immediately, Churchill writes.

But the next day, at a session with Stalin and Molotov, "began a most unpleasant discussion," Churchill writes, adding: "We argued for about two hours, during which he said a great many disagreeable things, especially about our being too much afraid of fighting the Germans, and if we tried it like the Russians we would find it not so bad; that we had broken our promise about 'Sledgehammer,' that we had failed in delivering the supplies promised to Rus-

Commie Radios Declare Tibet Now Invaded

Authorities Express Doubt Because of Weather Conditions

NEW DELHI, India, Oct. 26—(P)—A Communist Chinese "liberation" army has crossed a disputed frontier zone and knifed into Tibet, dispatches from Calcutta and various Communist capitals declared today.

(It was announced in Peiping Tuesday that such an invasion had been ordered "to free the 3,000,000 inhabitants" of Tibet a primitive, priest-ruled land isolated by the Himalayas, and to "strengthen the national western frontiers of China.") The assignment was reported given the Second Chinese field army.)

Express Skepticism

Though some military authorities have expressed skepticism about a Chinese invasion of Tibet at this time because of wintry conditions setting in across the Tibetan highlands, the Calcutta newspaper Statesman said a Chinese vanguard was reliably reported well inside Tibet, only a day's march from Neiweisai (Riwoche) and about 500 miles northwest of Lhasa, the capital.

The details, contained in a dispatch from the Statesman's correspondent at the northern Indian city of Kalimpong, indicated the vanguard was perhaps 100 miles west of the ill-defined border between China's Sikkim province and Tibet.

The Chinese embassy told the Indian government today it had heard nothing from Peiping of the reported invasion, but had received official confirmation of "Chinese troop movements and concentrations."

The Calcutta Statesman's account said broadcasts from Lhasa, the seat of the 15-year-old Dalai Lama who is Tibet's spiritual ruler, declared the Tibetans were determined to fight.

India Wants Information

The government of India, a bell-wether in many moves intended to restore peace to Asia, telegraphed its ambassador in Peiping for full information—and in the meantime sat tight. "We cannot act on mere newspaper reports," an Indian foreign ministry spokesman said.

A Tibetan delegation left New Delhi only Wednesday for Peiping for negotiations after weeks of talks here with Chinese authorities on Red aims in Tibet, which has been nominally free from China for 36 years.

The Chinese embassy told the Indian government today it had heard nothing from Peiping of the reported invasion, but had received official confirmation of "Chinese troop movements and concentrations."

The force includes the U. S. First Marine division, first ashore at Wonsan as it was at Inchon Sept. 15, the U. S. Seventh Infantry division, and Korean Republic Marines.

Action is Deferred by the Basin's Inter-Agency Group

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 26—(P)—The Arkansas-White-Red basins inter-agency committee deferred action on hydroelectric power problems today after a polite family disagreement.

Up for approval was a resolution to set up a special subcommittee to plan development and use of hydro power in the three basins.

Col. Louis W. Prentiss called it "a work committee to assure a consistent approach to power problems." He is committee chairman and division army engineer at Dallas.

But C. L. Forsling of Albuquerque, N. M., representing the department of interior, declined to vote on the resolution. Since inter-agency committee policy decisions must be unanimous, his action had the effect of delaying the hydro power problem at least until the next technical conference.

That is set for Nov. 15 and 16 at Tulsa.

Forsling said afterward he merely wanted to leave the question open for further study. He said he had no objection to setting up a subcommittee like the one proposed.

The disagreement did not break into an open dispute but it was preceded by some sharp questions by state representatives on the joint federal-state group.

Clarence Burch of Oklahoma and E. V. Spence of Texas were the questioners. But both voted for the resolution after Colonel Prentiss assured them there was no intention of trespassing on rights of individual states.

Prentiss gave that guarantee several times during the day-long meeting, the third since the committee was formed last July. He said the committee's aim is to develop a comprehensive water and land use plan only after considering the wishes of all the participating states.

Most of today's session was a review of special Missouri problems and technical reports.

Answers Differ on Whether U.S. Troops Will Go Into The Far North Or Whether Chi-Reds Are in the War

By LEIF ERICKSON

SEOUL, Korea, Friday, Oct. 27—(P)—South Korean troops drove to the sensitive Yalu river border of Chinese Manchuria at one point late Thursday in the strengthening allied campaign to end the war by occupying all Korea.

As reports of new-found bitter Red resistance came from widespread areas, authorities gave differing answers to these questions:

1. Will American and British commonwealth troops push all the way to the border in support of the Korean Republic forces at the risk of dangerous international incidents?

2. Have Chinese Red troops gone to the aid of the disorganized North Korean Communist fighting force? (See Col. 8)

The Seventh regiment of the South Korean Sixth division reached the border town of Chos-an at 5:50 p. m. Thursday (3:50 a. m. Thursday EST) and sent patrols three miles north to the boundary-marking Yalu river.

This Korean Republic force had marched 20 miles in a single day without opposition.

Report Brings Comments

Repeated reports that U. S. and British commonwealth troops would stop 20 miles or 40 miles or 50 miles short of the border drew these official comments:

Col. Noble J. Wiley, Jr., U. S. Eighth army public information officer, said: "United Nations forces, including U. S. troops, have authority to operate anywhere in Korea that the tactical situation dictates. While the Eighth army will not comment on future plans or movements, it will confirm within security limitations the location of ground U. N. forces under Eighth army control."

President Expresses Opinion

President Truman told a news conference in Washington a few minutes later that it was his understanding that only South Korean forces would occupy the northern frontier region.

A spokesman at General MacArthur's headquarters, from which come all the allied orders in this war, commented only: "The mission of United Nations forces is to clear Korea."

The U. S. Far East Air Force gave a further clue, announcing it had moved its "bomb line" in northwest Korea up to the Manchurian border from the former line 12 miles south.

No Bombing

Where the bomb line has reached the border, there will be no bombing, said the purpose of the line is to avoid hitting areas into which friendly ground troops are advancing.

Bombing is still permissible in the northeast, where the bomb line is still distant from the border.

Whether American troops drive to the border or stop short, a 50,000-man allied amphibious force which began going ashore at Wonsan on the east coast Thursday, was assembling for a punch northward in support of border-driving Korean Republic infantrymen.

The force includes the U. S. First Marine division, first ashore at Wonsan as it was at Inchon Sept. 15, the U. S. Seventh Infantry division, and Korean Republic Marines.

Kewpies Stop Tigers, 13 to 0 To End Streak

Musgrave Engineers Victors To First Win Since 1945

Columbia's Kewpies ended the Smith-Cotton Tiger's victory skein at four straight Friday night by soundly trouncing the local eleven 13-0 in a CEMO conference game played in Columbia.

The Kewpies running attack, engineered by their outstanding junior quarterback Bob Musgrave, clicked consistently from both the straight T and the Don Faurot split version to hammer the Bengals into defeat for the first time this season. It was the first Columbia victory over Sedalia since 1945.

Kewpies Score Early

Columbia rocked the Tigers back on their heels in the opening minutes of the game, giving the bewildered Bengals a shock from which they never recovered. Taking the opening kickoff, the Kewpies drove the length of the field with out relinquishing the ball. Fullback Homer Martin went over from the one after eight minutes had lapsed to send the partisan homecoming crowd of 5,000 into wild cheers. Junior Kyger's attempted placement for the point was blocked by Tiger fullback Art Conley.

The second Kewpie score came in the third quarter. After the Tigers ran the kickoff back to their 33 yard line, their attack bogged when a third-down pass from center eluded the Tiger tailback who recovered after the loose ball had rolled to the Sedalia 15. Shawver attempted to punt out only to have Kewpie tackle Jay Hughes break through and block the ball. It rolled out to the Sedalia two, Bill Hawkins went over in two plays, and Kyger added the point.

Pummill Out For Season

For the locals the defeat was doubly costly as they lost the services of starting halfback Don Pummill for the remainder of the season. Pummill was knocked unconscious in the second quarter, suffering a recurrence of an old head injury.

The play of the Columbia line was the deciding factor in the final outcome. Completely out-charging the Bengal forwards the Kewpie primary stopped Sedalia cold whenever the Tigers drove into the scoring zone.

Statements On Taxes In City

City taxes will become due and payable November 1st—will be delinquent and penalties charged beginning January 1st 1951. This includes real estate, personal property and merchants' ad valorem. Statements will be mailed to each taxpayer this week (beginning Oct. 23). The office will prefer that no one pay the tax until he receives his statement. Addresses used are as shown on the assessor's books. Statements will also show amount of delinquent taxes, if any.

This is the first time in the history of the city that statements are being mailed out automatically prior to the date the tax is due.

No extra help is employed to do this City Collector Paul Alpert states, but the additional cost of postage and printing amounts to approximately $500. On the tax rolls are listed 8,284 tracts of real estate, 7,848 personal taxpayers and 436 merchants paying ad valorem. The tax rate is the same as last year, $1.50 per each $100 valuation. City taxes are paid at the City Hall, Second street and Osage avenue. Remittances may be mailed to the city collector together with the statement, and receipts will be sent to the remitter.

Farm Home Burned Friday Afternoon

The small farm residence in which Harry Kennedy and his family resided on Highway 65 north of Sedalia near Bothwell Lodge, was destroyed by fire shortly after noon Friday. Cause of the fire was undetermined.

The twelve-year-old son Rex was at home caring for his small brother and sister, one and four-year old. The boy got his brother and sister out of the house while neighbors and passing motorists stopped and carried the family belongings from the residence.

Another daughter Dorothy, 13 and Virginia 8, students at the John H. Bothwell school a short distance from the home, were at school at the time and were attracted to the fire. Mrs. Melvin Dexheimer, teacher at the school hurried to the home with the children arriving a few minutes after the other children had gotten out. Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy were in town at the time of the fire according to neighbors.

The place was owned by Wilson Brown of 407 North Montebau avenue.

The City's New "Cat" Breaks Ground

The City of Sedalia's New Caterpillar is shown above breaking ground and preparing to dig a garbage disposal ditch in the city dumping grounds located six miles west of Sedalia on the Main street road and east of the old Sedalia Airport.

At the time the picture was taken, the tractor was being operated by a representative of the Caterpillar company. At the present time the "cat" is being operated by L. M. Weise of 419 East Thirteenth street, and stored in a recently constructed garage, on the grounds.

The "cat" according to Willis Jabas, City Sanitary Officer has a dual purpose. It not only digs the disposal ditches, which are eight feet deep, fourteen feet wide and approximately 500 feet in length, but the machine also fills them and packs the trench as it is filled with waste.

Jabas said the 36 acres of ground offers ample room for expansion. In the past year there have been eight such ditches filled as mentioned above. The grounds are open to the public between the hours of 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. The four city garbage trucks visit the grounds daily as do the private driven trucks.

The shovel on the "cat" is capable of scooping a yard and a quarter of dirt and is especially designed for city garbage disposal service. Jabas said the "cat" was purchased shortly after fair week and has been in actual operation for about a month.

Questions and Answers on Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 1

- Q. Just what would Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 1 do?
A. It would give the legislature the right, within limits, to make provisions for the adoption of levies for current school purposes by majority vote.
- Q. What levy for current school purposes could be voted by majority vote after the adoption of this Amendment?
A. This would be determined by the legislature within the limits prescribed by the Amendment. The overall constitutional limits for current school purposes, including the amount that school boards can levy, would be $3 in school districts formed of cities and towns, $2.67 in the City of St. Louis and $1.95 in other school districts.
- Q. How was Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 1 placed on the ballot?
A. By a joint resolution of the legislature which passed the Senate by a vote of 22 to 7 and the House of Representatives by a vote of 100 to 14.
- Q. Why is Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 1 needed?
A. In general to make possible the maintaining of present levies without great difficulty. It is difficult to carry any election by two-thirds majority where one negative vote is worth two affirmative votes. Many school districts have been forced to hold numerous elections which make for community friction and the impairment of the educational program.
- Q. Does the Amendment mean an automatic tax increase?
A. No Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 1 pertains to the method of securing school levies and not to their size. The size of levies would be left to the voters. In a few school districts unable to vote a levy of any size, it is hoped that better support of schools would result. In most school districts it is not expected that an increase in school levies would result.
- Q. Is the Amendment sound in principle?
A. Yes. To abide by the wishes of the majority is an accepted principle of American democracy. Our country, state or national governments could not function if two-thirds approval were required in all elections.
- Q. Is the Amendment in keeping with accepted practice?
A. Yes. It is in line with the legal provisions in thirty-one other states.
- Q. How often would it be necessary to vote on levies approved by majority vote?
A. Every year except in cities of 75,000 inhabitants or over where they could be voted for two years to coincide with school elections.
- Q. Would Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 1 affect the voting of levies by two-thirds majority for which there is no maximum and which may be voted for a period of four years?
A. No.
- Q. Would Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 1 change the method of voting school bonds?
A. No. A two-thirds vote would still be required on all bond issues.
- Q. What is required for the adoption of this Amendment?
A. The majority of those voting on the Amendment at the general election November 7, 1950. The Constitution of the State of Missouri can be amended by a majority vote but it takes a two-thirds vote for a school levy for teachers and incidentals.

Hubbard Held To 0-0 Tie By Joplin

The Hubbard Tigers did everything well against the host Joplin Yellow Jackets Friday night, but at the end of playing time found the scoreboard reading 0-0.

From the outset of the contest the Tigers were in command. In the second quarter Hubbard fullback Whitney raced over the goal only to have the play recalled due to an offside penalty. Three more times the Tigers drove within the Joplin 10-yard line, only to fail to cross the double-stripe. Joplin's deepest penetration was the Hubbard 30-yard-line.

Outstanding for the Tigers were Whitney and flankmen Fields and Fitzgerald. Coach Broadus termed the game "one of the best played by Hubbard in my tenure here."

The Tigers will travel to Kansas City next Saturday to engage the Summer high eleven.

Local Dog Wins Top Honors At National Coondog Trial

Cry Baby, a five-year-old Red-bone-cross coonhound owned by Charles Wagner of Hughesville, is the world's best "first line" coondog. This honor was won by Cry Baby at the recent Leafy Oaks Field Trial held in Kenton, Ohio. This was the 23rd running of the event known as the Kentucky Derby of coondog followers.

In winning this high honor Cry Baby proved herself better than 500 of the nation's best coonhounds entered in the field trial. In the running of a coondog trial a live coon is placed in a bag and dragged along the ground for a distance of 1½ miles. He then is placed in a tree. At a specified distance from the tree, usually about 90 feet, two flags are placed on the coon's trail. Here a group of judges stand to mark the first dog to pass the flags. This dog wins "first line" honors. The first dog to reach the tree, and place his feet on it wins the "first tree" award. Frequently two different dogs will win titles for some dogs are slow to tree. Dogs are run in heats with the winners advancing a bracket. Fourteen dogs ran in the final with Cry Baby.

Triumph Comes As Surprise

While winning trials is nothing new to Cry Baby, her triumph came as a surprise to the 12,000 persons who gathered from over the nation to view the spectacle. Only four females have won in the trial's 23 runnings.

The dog was handled by Bob Hopper of Columbia in the absence of Wagner. Hopper was to notify the owner in the event Cry Baby won any of the preliminary heats. When Hopper saw how well the dog was performing he held off until the finals were over. He then called Wagner and told him of Cry Baby's victory. This action almost gave the owner heart-failure.

Fully Trained By Wagner

Cry Baby was purchased as an untrained dog by Wagner at the Columbia field trial in 1947. Her training has been done solely by the owner. Her first major competition was in the Missouri State Championship held in Vandalia in 1948. Here she won the first line honors which started her on her way to the Leafy Oaks event. Since that time Cry Baby has compiled a long string of triumphs in both first line and first tree run-offs. After her win in the grand championship, she ran off with first honors in the recent Kansas State Championship held in Ft. Scott last month. This event was entered by some 200 dogs. This month she won first line and first tree titles in a large Iowa trial.

An interesting sidelight on the Leafy Oaks trial was the conduct of Calcutta pools before each trial heat, and the operation of a parimutuel system.

Cry Baby Ran At 12-1

Prior to post-time for the final heat, Cry Baby was listed at 12-1 on "tote board." Mrs. Estelle Walker of Sedalia, editor and publisher of the coon hunter's Bible, "Full Cry" magazine, was in attendance, but failed to arrive at the betting window in time to place a bet on her "hunch." Naturally, her hunch was Cry Baby. Mrs. Walker found enough joy in the victory of a local dog to forget her unplaced bet, however.

This by far the highest honor ever to come to a local coondog or coonhound fancier; there is no higher honor to be attained. Sedalia and Pettis county are indeed proud of Cry Baby and her owner Charles Wagner.

Missouri Has Record Gain For Workers

State Shows Up Better Than The National Average

Missouri is experiencing a job boom, Charles A. Ricker, of Jefferson City, director of the Division of Employment Security, revealed in a report on the state's labor force, and there is a shortage of workers in certain skills. This prosperity note, Ricker added, is not due to war material production, although the Korean incident may have stepped up retail stores demand for inventory reserves.

Record-breaking gains in job placements made by the Missouri State Employment Service, and a substantial decline in claims by workers for unemployment insurance, combined to reflect the state's current prosperity trend, Ricker said.

The director asserted unemployment in Missouri is estimated at 34,500—or about 2 per cent of the state's total labor force of approximately 1,725,000, which is better than the national average.

No Further Drop

The 2 per cent unemployment figure, Ricker feels, cannot be expected to go lower because in the group are those workers who are always the last to be employed and the first to be laid off.

Ricker estimated 1,140,300 are engaged in what he termed non-agricultural employment and another 525,000 persons are gainfully employed in farm work or related agricultural lines. Proprietors, self-employed persons and domestics make up an estimated 25,500.

The employment figures and wage averages are based on reports received from 3,000 cooperating establishments, Ricker advised. The miscellaneous group includes scientific instruments, photographic and optical goods, tobacco, jewelry, musical instruments, toys, etc.

In addition to the foregoing the report showed 9,400 workers engaged in mining, 54,600 in construction, 123,300 in transportation and public utilities, 289,100 in wholesale and retail trade, 51,600 in finance, insurance and real estate, 124,300 in service industries and 136,000 in federal, state county and city governmental branches. It is Ricker's opinion the state's current employment impact is the result of consumer demands, and cannot be attributed to national defense work.

Demands Stronger

Ricker cited the growing demands for workers with figures for the first 9 months of 1949 showing the state's employment service made 61,266 non-agricultural placements. He compared them with 84,950, for the same period in 1950, a gain of 38.6 per cent.

Ricker said the state employment service made 14,077 job placements in September, 5,999 of them in St. Louis; Kansas City, 3,912; St. Joseph, 656; Springfield, 606; Cape Girardeau, 279; Rolla, 243; Hannibal, 214.

Cities with more than 100 placements and under 200 were: Columbia, 172; Flat River, 191; Jefferson City, 110; Joplin, 154; Louisiana, 139; Mexico, 101; Sedalia, 130; Trenton, 145.

The total of 14,077 non-agricultural placements represents another new high record for any month since 1945 when war-time placement controls were lifted. Ricker pointed out. The September, 1950, total represents an increase of 47 per cent over September, 1949, he said, and it is an increase of 5 per cent over the 13,401 August placement figure.

As employment gained rapidly, joblessness dropped correspondingly. Ricker released statistics on claims failed for unemployment insurance which showed payments totaling $780,347 in September were below the million-dollar mark for the first time in any month since November, 1948.

Nationally the civilian labor force reached 64.7 million in August, the highest for the month in the post war period, and 2.8 million more than a year ago. August employment reached 62.4 million. There was a national drop of 713,000 in unemployment to 2.5 million, which was lower than at any time since the end of 1948.

Luncheon Given For Visitors

Mrs. Howard Cook and Mrs. A. L. Hawkins of Jefferson City spent Thursday in Sedalia and while here were luncheon guests at the Heard Memorial Club House.

Attending the luncheon were Mrs. D. P. Dyer, Mrs. W. F. Keyser, Mrs. C. E. Messerly, Mrs. W. P. Hurley and Mrs. Virginia Flower.

Accessories play a large role in your wardrobe. Starting about this time of the year most of you find yourselves rushing through the days and evenings with a full calendar of activities. Budgets never seem to expand enough to allow a large number of complete outfits.

A wise shopper will buy good shoes and purses to match; handsome scarfs; good looking costume jewelry; a chic hat every once in awhile and a really good pair of gloves. Buy all these items in good taste and then you'll be surprised how many times you can wear your same suit and dresses, yet how different you will look.

Selecting the right shade of hose is terribly important in making the most of your shoes. Particularly brown and green shoes. Dark heels and seams are new again, but wear them with the right clothes. They don't go well with flat heels, sweaters and skirts. With a good basic wardrobe, well-chosen accessories and that scrubbed look, you will be on your way to being that "well-dressed woman."

Will Have Own Blood Bank

Bothwell Hospital Maintain One Under Dr. Upsher

The local blood bank program sponsored at the Bothwell hospital that has been in operation since April 29, 1949 in cooperation with the Pettis county chapter of the American Red Cross has been terminated as of Wednesday, October 18, it is announced.

This action taken by the hospital board was followed by letters sent out through the board of trustees of the John H. Bothwell Memorial hospital of its discontinuance of the free blood bank in conjunction with the Red Cross.

A self explanatory letter has been sent out relative to the decision that was acted upon Monday 16, to the Red Cross a copy of which states:

"October 18, 1950. Philip McLaughlin Chapter Chairman The American Red Cross 401 1/2 South Ohio Avenue Sedalia, Missouri

"Dear Mr. McLaughlin: "At the regular meeting of the hospital board on Monday October 16, 1950, it was decided to abolish the sponsorship of the blood bank. We, therefore advise you as of this date that we are no longer sponsoring the free blood bank in cooperation with the American Red Cross.

"The program in the future will be carried out under the supervision of Dr. Albert E. Upsher, pathologist. Some months ago, we obtained the services of Dr. Upsher for our clinical laboratory and he now has complete charge of all laboratory work.

"We feel that Bothwell hospital can be better served by maintaining our own blood bank.

"The board of trustees wish to take this opportunity to thank the Pettis County Chapter of the American Red Cross for their untiring efforts in the past in obtaining blood donors and making the blood bank available to the patients in our community.

"Yours very truly, Bothwell Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees Signed Fred M. Lange, Pres."

An arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums was on the buffet and on either side were white candles.

As Miss Jean Waite played the wedding march Mr. and Mrs.

Chest Fund In Support Of The Melita Day Nursery

It was the idea of a woman that brought about the establishment of a day nursery for Sedalia—a place where mothers, who by necessity had to work, would have a place to leave their children in good care. The woman was the late Mrs. C. W. Flower.

It was the gift of another woman that made that idea possible. That woman was Mrs. Sarah E. Cotton, whose father founded Sedalia and whose gift was the first house built in the town. It was just a little house but it was big enough to start the nursery and Mrs. Cotton wanted it named for her sister, Melita Smith. And so it was named the Melita Smith Day Nursery.

Every year the Melita Day Nursery, which is now in a large frame house, on the corner of Second street and Washington avenue, shares in the Community Chest. Here little girls and boys whose mothers work, are brought to be cared for all day until mother gets off from work in the evening and comes for them.

Excellent Care, Good Food

They are not only given the best care and food but are taught to mind, to play with other children, table manners and many other things that their busy mothers haven't time to teach. Mrs. Loula Buell is superintendent of the nursery and is assisted by Miss Lulu Haight. Both women give real love and care to the children.

There was an enrolment of 60 children during the past year with an average attendance of about 30. There were 5,670 noon day meals served and 5,500 afternoon lunches. The little youngsters are put in little beds for naps during the afternoon after which all have a lunch in the play room.

The play room is a new thing, too. A nice big room in which they can have fun on inclement days when they can't get outdoors. Recently a former Sedalian David Chasnoff, of Kansas City, whose mother was interested in the nursery as long as she lived, came to Sedalia and asked members of the Melita Day Nursery Board to name something big that he might give to the nursery. They suggested a gas heater for the play room and Mr. Chasnoff immediately wrote them out a check.

The nursery has been redecorated all over with new cabinets and a new sink in the kitchen added.

Then there is a new plaything in the back yard around which the youngsters buzz like little bees. It is a new slide, a really grand one that will last for years. It was a gift too, given by the Sedalia Kiwanis Club.

More In Summer Months

Summers bring more children to the nursery than winter because in the winter many of them go to school, and this summer was especially busy with 62 children, the usual number is 45. There are about 20 pre-school children.

This past week one of the little folks who has been at the Nursery was taken to Mercy Hospital in Kansas City. Johnnie Bryan, three years old, who never has been very well, is a tiny tot who is benefitting from two of the agencies included in the Community Chest Drive. Your Community Chest dollars will help Johnnie and many other little boys and girls like him, to have a real chance in life, for both the nursery and the hospital mean a great deal to Johnnie's future.

Mr. Truman confirmed at his weekly news conference that a call for the lawmakers to come back earlier is under consideration.

He said also that: 1—He doesn't expect trouble with the Russians in western Europe this winter.

2—He hasn't heard of any Soviet atomic explosions since the one he announced 13 months ago.

3—He understands that Korea's whole northern frontier will be occupied by Southern Korean troops only—in other words, that U. S. troops won't be stationed on the border of Communist territory.

4—He may make a campaign speech or two on behalf of Democratic candidates for the Senate and House. If he does, he probably will speak by radio from Washington.

Relaxed and affable, Mr. Truman also pooh-poohed a prediction by Harold E. Stassen that the administration "is getting ready to embrace the Chinese Communist dictator, Mao Tze-Tung."

Not Responsible The President said Stassen didn't get that information from him. He said it must have come from Guy Gabrielson, the Republican National chairman. Stassen, a contender for the GOP presidential nomination in 1948, made the statement in Philadelphia last night.

Mr. Truman commented on European peace prospects in reply to a question by a visiting Dutch clergyman-editor, F. J. Voorhuis, who said people in his part of the world were worried about the possibility of war with Russia in the near future. Hesitantly, the Hollander asked if Mr. Truman could give any reassurances.

Some reporters didn't get the question, so the President repeated it: Do we anticipate trouble in western Europe during the coming winter?

Then quietly and calmly, he gave his answer: No, we do not expect it.

Stalin wound up his meal at about one in the morning—polishing off a suckling pig. But in spite of the personal pleasantries, Churchill found the Russian leader a moody, brutal and crushingly impolite opponent when it came to arguments.

On the material side, however, he was a good host. He put Churchill up in "State Villa No. 7," which was a new country estate luxuriously equipped and served even though the Germans were almost within artillery range. ## Truman Wants To Clear up Legislation

Call May or May Not Come Before November 27th

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—(P)—President Truman admitted today he's thinking of calling Congress back into session before Nov. 27 to deal with rent control, an excess profits tax and other legislation including statehood for Alaska and Hawaii.

He wouldn't say, however, whether the call may be issued before election day. Congress itself has set the Nov. 27 date for reassembling. Some Republicans say the President would be playing politics if he set the date ahead and made the announcement before the Nov. 7 election.

Mr. Truman confirmed at his weekly news conference that a call for the lawmakers to come back earlier is under consideration.
